Online Building Permit Application

All users may fill out an ONLINE APPLICATION by electronically entering information on an online form, as opposed to handwriting the information on a paper application. Once the application is completed, one of the following must be done for the application to be processed:

- Continue the process by bringing paper plans to the Permit Center for review;

“OR”

- Continue the process by submitting digital plans online through the ePlan system, which is more convenient. You will receive an e-mail from "eplan_noreply@co.pg.md.us" with instructions on how to upload your plans; please remember to configure your e-mail spamfilters to accept e-mail from this address. An "ePlan Applicant Quick Start Guide" is available, as well as an "ePlan User Guide."

A screenshot of a web browser displaying the Prince Georges County Department of Permitting, Inspections and Enforcement (DPIE) website. The browser's address bar shows the URL "http://dpipepermits.princegeorgescountymd.gov/Customers/Login.aspx". The website header includes the Prince Georges county logo and the text "DPIE Department of Permitting, Inspections and Enforcement". A navigation bar contains a "Home" link and a "Help" button. The main content area features a news item with a photo of a man at a podium and a text block stating: "On July 1, 2013, Prince George's County officially opens its newest department, the Department of Permitting, Inspections &amp; Enforcement (DPIE). This 280-person agency combines under one roof the staff and functions that support the authorization and regulation of building, site, road, and utility permits and building licenses which drive the local economy and ensure the health and safety of County residents, businesses and visitors." Below this text is a link for "New Customer Sign-Up". To the right of the news item is a "Customer Login" form with fields for "User Name" and "Password", a "Forgot Password?" link, and "Log In" and "Cancel" buttons. The browser's status bar at the bottom indicates the date "Monday, May 23, 2016".
